Food

The standard of food in Greece is excellent and offers a remarkable variety of freshly prepared and very tasty dishes, many of which use locally grown products and locally produced olive oil.

When eating out the Greeks nearly always eat 'Mezedes' style. This means ordering several dishes, starters and/or main plates, whatever takes your fancy, to put in the middle of the table for all to share. It's a very sociable way to eat and a great way of tasting lots of different dishes! Don't be shy in the amount you order, or if you only find yourselves ordering starters – any combination is acceptable.

When ordering fish in Greece you will find the price on the menu relates to a cost per kilo. Don't be put off by this. You are expected to go into the kitchen, choose the fish you want and then it will be weighed in front of you so you know what you will pay.

Drink

Nearly all tavernas sell their own 'open' wine, known as village wine. Prices of local 'village' wine are usually around 6 or 7 euros per half litre.

Meals included in the holiday

Breakfast - Daily

Dinner – one dinner

Taking food into EU countries

Please note, you are not able to take meat, milk or any products containing them into EU countries.

Destination

Join historian Jeremy Paterson as he takes 'The road less travelled' through Northern Greece, from the ancient tombs of Macedonia with their spectacular hordes of gold, to the remarkable 'monasteries in the sky', Meteora and the villages and humped-backed packhorse bridges of the Pindus mountains. We visit Ioannina, where Byron met Ottoman-Albanian tyrant Ali Pasha. We consult the oracle at Dodona, we see the site of the Battle of Actium where Augustus defeated Antony and Cleopatra. We also visit Pella, the capital of ancient Macedonia, and discover the fascinating history of Thessaloniki.

Places of interest included in the tour:

Pella

Pella is an ancient city located in Central Macedonia, best known as the historic capital of the ancient Greek kingdom of Macedon and the birthplace of Alexander the Great. Excavations in Pella by the Greek Archaeological Service began in 1957 and revealed large, well-built houses with colonnaded courts and rooms with mosaic floors portraying such scenes as a lion hunt and Dionysus riding a panther. These mosaics are made with small natural pebbles of various colours, carefully matched and laid, and are masterpieces of their kind. They date from the late 4th century BC. Excavations revealed the town to be laid out on a rectangular grid plan with streets more than 30 feet wide. Under the streets are terra-cotta pipes for distributing fresh water. The excellent museum of Pella is located next to the archaeological site.

Thessaloniki

Thessaloniki is the second largest city of Greece and the most important centre of the area. Built near the sea, it is a modern metropolis bearing the marks of its stormy history and cosmopolitan character, which give it a special beauty and charm.

The Archaeological Museum here is excellent and one of the largest museums in Greece. It has some unique collections exhibiting artefacts from the Prehistoric, Archaic, Classical, Hellenistic and Roman periods, mostly from the city of Thessaloniki but also from the region of Macedonia in general.

Ancient Aigai

Ancient Aigai used to be the cradle of the Temenid dynasty, which gave humanity two of its most imposing figures, Philip II and ultimately Alexander the Great, who would go on to change the course of Greek and world history. In the underground building that encases and protects the monuments, the visitor can unravel the threads of history and myth. The illuminated ancient objects shine even more brightly in the dark. The sight of Philip II's tomb and the treasures exhibited near the place where they were found is truly awe-inspiring. The golden shrine with the sixteen-pointed star, the sovereign's gold wreath, his wife's gold crown, her crimson and gold shroud and the unique frescoes are just a sample of some of the wonderful pieces that were un-earthed. Meteora

A trip to Meteora offers the unique experience of nature's grandeur in conjunction with history, architecture and man's everlasting desire to connect with the Divine. From the early Christian times, the Meteora vertical cliffs were regarded as the perfect place to achieve absolute isolation, to discover peace and harmony and, thus, to support man's eternal struggle for spiritual elevation. Meteora is a truly inspiring and sensational setting of overwhelming rock formations. It is a pilgrimage site for Christians around the world. The first monks of Meteora arrived in the 14th century establishing an entire monastic community on top of giant rock cliffs. They chose to do this not because it was easy but because it was hard, almost impossible. And they succeeded in this great achievement through their faith. Meteora has become a preservation ark for the 2000-year-old Christian Orthodox creed.

Ali Pasha's Island

One of the very few inhabited lake islands in Europe is in Greece. The island of Ioannina's Lake holds a unique record as it is the only inhabited island of its size in the world without a name. The verdant island of 200 square kilometres is home to more than 300 people. It is known for its traditional Epirus stone-built settlement and was the base of Ali Pasha of Janina in the early 19th century, hence the 'nickname' for the island, Ali Pasha's Island. In its tiny heartland, there are seven Byzantine and post-Byzantine monasteries built next to each other, which made it an important place for monasticism in the past. This traditional monastic community is the third largest in the country after those in Mount Athos, Macedonia, and Meteora in Thessaly.

Dodona

Dodona in Epirus in north-western Greece was the oldest Hellenic oracle, possibly dating to the second millennium BCE according to Herodotus. The earliest accounts in Homer describe Dodona as an oracle of Zeus. It is an important ancient Greek oracle, second in fame only to Delphi, and is located in a strategic pass at the eastern slopes of the imposing Mt. Tomaros, close to the modern city of Ioannina in western Epirus. It was dedicated to Zeus and Dione, and the Greeks believe it to be the most ancient of oracles.

Nicopolis

Nikopolis or Nicopolis (which means, the victory city) is probably the largest in size ancient city in Greece, but still few have heard about it! It is located about eight kilometres away from Preveza, in Epirus and it was built by the Roman emperor Octavian after his victory at Aktion against Antony and Cleopatra of Egypt. Within the archaeological site are many interesting monuments. The impressive Roman Odeon, which is located on the west side of the old Christian Wall includes the auditorium, the orchestra and the stage. It was built in the 1st C. AD and remained in use until the second half of the 3rd C. AD. The impressive theatre differs from other ancient Greek theatres, it constructively follows the logic of the Roman theatres of the period it was built and was created from three consecutive galleries and not in a natural sloping position, as it used to be in ancient Greek theatres.

Kassope

Kassope occupies a magnificent and remote site on a high platform overlooking the sea, the Ambracian Gulf and the fertile lands to the south, and with the slopes of the Zalongo mountain to the north. It is considered one of the best remaining examples of a city built on a rectilinear street grid of a Hippodamian plan in Greece. The city of Kassope was founded in the middle of the 4th century BC as the capital of the Kassopaeans, a sub-tribe of the Thesprotians. Cassope or Cassopia is mentioned in the war carried on by Cassander against Alcetas II of Epirus, in 312 BC. The city flourished in the 3rd century BC, when large public buildings were built. Kassope also minted its own coins. It was destroyed by Roman forces in 168-167 BC and abandoned in 31 B.C. when the remaining inhabitants resettled to Nikopolis the region's new capital. According to the legend, the women of Zalongo, holding their children in their arms, went to the cliff at Zalongo and, while singing and dancing the syrtos, jumped over the precipice one after another. Today, a monument on the site of Mount Zalongo above Kassope commemorates their sacrifice. There is also a popular dance-song about the event, which is known and still danced in Greece today.

Zagoria

Zagoria is a mountainous region of incredible natural beauty. Located on the northwestern side of Epirus, Zagoria is a complex of 46 traditionally built stone villages. These villages have a characteristic architecture and are surrounded by lush nature and dramatic mountains.

Your Guide

Jeremy Paterson

Jeremy taught Greek and Roman history for over forty years at Newcastle University. He has travelled widely in Greece and the Mediterranean. His enthusiasm for the ancient world was first inspired by reading Homer and then by his fascination with the archaeological discoveries at Mycenae and Knossos. He is much in demand as a speaker at home and in many of the classical countries of the Mediterranean, where he has accompanied many groups to sites and museums.

Tour Manager

Your Tour Manager will be on hand throughout the tour to ensure that everything operates according to plan. If you have any problems or questions, please see him/her immediately and they will do their utmost to resolve any issues.

Grading

This tour has been graded as Moderate: Walking between sites, lots of standing for viewing.

The Basics

Climate – The weather in Greece at this time of year is likely to be pleasant, but evenings can be quite cool and there is the chance of the odd shower. Our best advice is to come prepared. Layers are useful as is a rain jacket and small umbrella.

Time – GMT +3 hours (Summertime Apr-Oct); GMT + 2 (Standard time Nov-Mar). This means, summer or winter, Greece is always 2 hours ahead of the UK

Language – Greek

Religion – Greek Orthodox

Currency – Euro. €1 = 100 cents. Notes are in denominations of €500, 200, 100, 50, 20, 10 and 5. Coins are in denominations of €2 and 1, and 50, 20, 10, 5, 2 and 1 cents.

Banks – Cashpoints compatible with international banking networks are available in most towns, as well as airports and other spots. Those banks that still exchange foreign currencies into local money will always charge a transaction fee, so withdrawing money from an ATM usually represents the most logical means of obtaining euros other than bringing euros with you from the UK. You can use a UK debit card, using the same pin number you use in the UK, to withdraw cash. The instructions are in English. Banks are open Monday to Friday 8am – 2pm.

Credit cards – Greece has always been very much a cash society, which meant credit cards were not widely accepted, however, today these are now accepted just about everywhere, but we do recommend carry some euros with you, just in case. Varying amounts of commission can be charged for credit card payments, and you may like to check these with your credit card supplier before you travel. Hotels always accept credit cards.

Electricity – 220 volt, two-pin continental plug.

Drinking water – Tap water is safe to drink although you should check at the hotel if the bathroom water is safe to drink as it might be tank water rather than mains water. Bottled water is readily available to buy in all the local shops and very reasonably priced.

Plumbing - Unless there is information to the contrary, please do not put toilet paper down the toilet. As you may know this is common practice in Greece due to the narrowness of the mains waste pipes. Please dispose of the paper in the bins provided, which will be regularly emptied by the hotel.

Telephones/mobiles – The guarantee of free mobile phone roaming throughout the EU, Iceland, Liechtenstein and Norway has ended. Check with your phone operator to find out about any roaming charges that might be applied after 1st January 2021. A new law means that you are protected from getting mobile data charges above £45 without you knowing. Once you reach £45, you need to opt in to spend more so that you can continue using the internet while you are abroad. Your phone operator will tell how you can do this.

Tipping –To keep our tours affordable, we do not increase the tour price by adding in tips. However, in the tourism industry, there is a certain level of expectation that, when receiving a good service, one awards with a tip. Tour Managers, Representatives, Guides and Drivers appreciate a tip at the end of their involvement with the tour, but this is entirely at your discretion. We believe in allowing you to tip according to your level of satisfaction with their services.

Walking shoes – as our days are spent in various terrains, which can be a little rocky and uneven underfoot, we recommend that you bring shoes which have good gripping soles such as trainers or good walking shoes.

Health

General Health Advice

We suggest you take a good supply of your own individual medicines with you and always keep some in your hand luggage in case you get delayed, or your luggage goes astray. General-purpose supplies for bites, stings, or scratches, and your usual medication for headaches, or stomach upsets are always recommended. Oral re-hydration sachets are excellent for topping up salt and glucose levels.

Visit the NHS Fit for Travel website for more generally information specific to the country you are visiting – www.fitfortravel.nhs.uk

Doctor/Dentist/Chemist

Please talk to your tour manager if you are feeling unwell and they will organise for you to see a doctor if necessary. There is normally a charge of about 80 Euros for calling out a doctor (or more, depending on the distance the doctor must travel) and there is also a charge to visit a Doctor.

Keep any receipts for insurance claims.

Hospital

Your Tour Manager/hotel reception will assist if you need to visit a hospital during your stay.

Keep any receipts for insurance claims.

Inoculations

No compulsory vaccinations are required for travel in Greece.

Pharmacies

Pharmacies throughout Greece are generally well-stocked and have knowledgeable staff who often speak good English. Pharmacists will often be able to give advice and medicine for minor ailments. Pharmacies are open Monday to Friday but not on Saturdays.

Insurance

We strongly recommend that you take out an appropriate travel insurance policy when you travel abroad.

To be covered under your Travel Insurance Policy, if you become ill, it is essential that you contact a local doctor and telephone the emergency number of your insurance company. You will NOT be covered for any claim unless this procedure is carried out. Your insurance company will then decide on the best course of medical attention.

Global Health Insurance Card (GHIC)

Before you travel, make sure you've got a valid European Health Insurance Card (EHIC) or UK Global Health Insurance Card (GHIC) or travel insurance with health cover.

You may not have access to free emergency medical treatment and could be charged for your healthcare if you do not have an EHIC or GHIC when visiting an EU country, or travel insurance with full healthcare cover when visiting Switzerland, Norway, Iceland or Liechtenstein. If you have an EHIC it will still be valid while it remains in date. Your European Health Insurance Card (EHIC) or Global Health Insurance Card (GHIC) will be valid if you are travelling to an EU country.

For further information about the GHIC please visit:
